

in this time

in June

my molecules have wandered so far and for so long to be here in time

and now in this time

small bunches of tiny leaves have become green branches with healthy broad leaves after rain water coats trunks branches limbs stems thick bark and tender skin leaves everywhere drip

a sound to keep me

in tune

June 20 Thomaston Maine

© 2018, 2023 Bill Eberle